FIRM OVERVIEW

Founded on April 28, 2003 by Ronald Motley, Joseph Rice and nearly 50 other lawyers, Motley Rice LLC is one of the nation's largest plaintiffs' law firms. Our attorneys, assisted by over 350 support personnel, are proven leaders in litigation, demonstrating extensive courtroom experience and an in-depth understanding of the law. The firm's lawyers are internationally recognized for their pioneering work representing asbestos victims, States' Attorneys General in their landmark litigation against Big Tobacco, the 9/11 families and survivors in their ground breaking lawsuit against terrorist financiers, and hundreds of thousands of other citizens harmed by the wrongdoing of others. The lawyers of Motley Rice LLC continue to seek justice in the areas of aviation disaster; catastrophic injury; complex case resolution; securities and consumer fraud; environmental hazards and contamination; medical negligence and medical device defects; occupational disease and toxic torts; transportation defects; whistleblower protection; and other mass torts. The firm has offices in Mt. Pleasant, South Carolina; Providence, Rhode Island; Hartford, Connecticut and Atlanta, Georgia. Motley Rice lawyers have dealt with clients and cases in Latin America, Canada, Europe, the Caribbean and many other countries.

Motley Rice lawyers, with more than several hundred years of collective trial experience in litigation practice across the United States, initially gained widespread national recognition for the first successful representations of injured persons against the asbestos industry. In the last decade, Motley Rice lawyers were selected by 26 States' Attorneys General to represent them against the tobacco industry in recovering medical costs associated with smoking under novel legal and equitable theories that Motley Rice lawyers spearheaded — resulting in a $246 billion settlement agreement. The firm also represents individuals and plaintiffs in complex litigation involving civil racketeering (RICO), securities fraud, insurance fraud, tire and vehicle defects, defective drugs, class actions, toxic torts, workplace exposures, nursing home negligence, and representation related to the September 11, 2001 acts of terrorism.

CIVIL LITIGATION

Motley Rice lawyers and their extensive support staff have experience in all types of civil litigation. The firm's lawyers routinely litigate complex cases involving multiple parties in state and federal jurisdictions throughout the United States, either as sole counsel for the plaintiffs or in association with local counsel and other firms.

Additionally, the firm's lawyers have distinguished themselves in the use of alternative dispute resolution, such as negotiation, mediation and arbitration, making it possible to avoid protracted litigation in some cases. Motley Rice LLC employs state-of-the-art technology by using video conferencing, direct access to the Internet for lawyers and support staff, extranet access to institutional clients, and a computer-based document management system that enables the firm to process and enter into the database thousands of medical articles, liability documents and all other information and documents utilized in litigation proceedings.

Motley Rice lawyers are involved in a wide range of civil litigation. These cases involve representing victims injured from defective products, product failures, premises liability and various other negligent acts or malpractice. With over 70 lawyers, the firm has the ability to act quickly in protecting the rights of individuals as new product dangers become apparent. The lawyers of Motley Rice LLC have been associated as counsel in litigation involving personal injury claims of all kinds, including cases related to:

- Asbestos
- Aviation Disasters

TEAM BIOGRAPHIES

THE FIRM'S MEMBERS

RONALD MOTLEY

Ron Motley is internationally recognized as one of America's most dynamic, accomplished and skilled trial lawyers. Over a career spanning more than three decades, his persuasiveness before a jury and his ability to break new legal and evidentiary ground has brought to justice two once-invincible giant industries whose malfeasance took the lives of millions of Americans — asbestos and tobacco.

Today, Motley is once again advancing cutting-edge litigation as lead counsel for more than 6,500 family members and survivors of the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks seeking justice against al Qaeda's financiers.

In addition, he is currently leading Motley Rice's litigation efforts against several human tissue processing firms in New York funeral home on behalf of the victims of an alleged body harvesting scheme. The firm is currently investigating hundreds of potential cases. Motley also serves as co-lead counsel on the tainted tissue MDL.

Motley has won numerous awards for his ability to win justice and compensation for his clients and for his seminal impact on the course of civil litigation. In 1998, he was named Harry M. Philo Trial Lawyer of the Year by the 50,000-member Association of Trial Lawyers of America and received the President's Award of the National Association of Attorneys General. The Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids gave him their Youth Advocates of the Year Award in 1999. Business Week magazine characterized Motley's courtroom skills as "dazzling." American Lawyer dubbed him "The man who took on Manville," and The National Law Journal has ranked him, "One of the most influential lawyers in America."

His combination of legal and trial skills, personal charisma, nose-to-the-grindstone hard work and record of success has enabled Motley, a 1971 graduate of the University of South Carolina School of Law, to build Motley Rice LLC into one of the world's leading plaintiffs' law firms concentrating in highly complex litigation.

JOSEPH RICE

Motley Rice LLC Member Joe Rice is internationally renowned as a skillful, innovative, tough and masterful negotiator of landmark settlements of highly complex litigation. Rice is best known for his central role in crafting the landmark settlement on behalf of the States Attorneys General, in which the tobacco industry agreed to reimburse states for smoking-related health costs, resulting in the largest civil settlement in history. Rice's work on the tobacco settlement only expanded the huge impact that he has made resolving difficult litigation in asbestos and other toxic tort areas.

Named one of the nation's "Five Most Respected Plaintiff Attorneys" in a poll of defense counsel and legal scholars conducted by Corporate Legal Times, Rice was cited time after time as one of the toughest, sharpest and hardest-working litigators they have ever faced. As the article notes, "For all his talents as a shrewd negotiator . . . Rice has earned most of his respect from playing fair and remaining humble." He combines a meticulous and exhaustive capacity for numbers-crunching with a creative mind that thinks outside the box in identifying solutions to difficult problems that win justice for clients.

In 1998, Rice received the President's Award of the National Association of Attorneys General. In 1999 and 2000, Rice served on the faculty at Duke University School of Law as a Senior Lecturing Fellow. Rice earned a Bachelor of Science and J.D. degree from the University of South Carolina and has also taught classes at the USC and Duke Law Schools on the art of negotiating.

LAUREN ANTONINO

Joining Motley Rice in 2006 as a Member, Lauren Antonino focuses primarily on the firm's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. Antonino has over 18 years of complex litigation experience, including commercial, mass tort and securities class action litigation. Her experience includes leading major securities fraud cases, including In re: JDN Realty Company, In re: Premiere Technologies Sec. Litig., In re: InterCept Sec. Litig. and In re: HealthTronics Sec. Litig.

Antonino is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Duke University where she earned an A.B. degree with magna cum laude honors in 1984. She is a 1987 graduate of the University of Virginia School of Law where she served on the managing board of the Virginia Tax Review and as a defense counsel for the University Honor System. Following law school, she clerked for the late Honorable M. Oliver Koelsch of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in Seattle, Washington.

Antonino has been a featured speaker on securities class action litigation, employment law, alternative dispute resolution and product liability issues. She has served as a presenter for public pension fund conferences, the American Bar Association Convention, the Alternative Dispute Resolution Convention and ICLE. In July 2000, her article entitled "The Seven Steps of Effective Workplace Investigations (with Sample Questions)" was published in The Practical Litigator. In September of the same year, her article "Fast Companies Need Fast Lawyers; Speeding Up Dispute Resolutions," was published in Competitive Edge. Antonino wrote "Latex Protein Toxic Syndrome Litigation: The Cutting Edge of Toxic Tort Practice," published in Mealey's Litigation Reports, Drugs and Medical Devices, in October 1996 and has been quoted in numerous publications, including Business Week, on the subject of latex allergy.

She is a member of the American Mensa Society and was selected by her peers as one of Georgia's Super Lawyers in the 2004, 2005 and 2006 editions. Antonino is admitted to practice before all Georgia state trial and appellate courts, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Georgia and the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

FRED BAKER

Fred Baker divides his time between the Motley Rice Environmental and Securities and Consumer Fraud practice groups.

Baker earned a J.D. and LLM from Duke University School of Law in 1993. He was admitted to both the South Carolina Bar and New York Bar in 1994, at which time he began working with Motley Rice attorneys.

KEVIN DEAN

For over 15 years, Kevin Dean has litigated in the areas of personal injury, wrongful death, professional malpractice, products liability, lender liability and commercial/consumer fraud. Dean joined Motley Rice LLC as an associate in 2004 to focus on the firm's Transportation, Medical and Catastrophic Injury practice groups. He was quickly appointed vehicle defect subgroup leader. In late 2005, Dean was asked to serve as team leader on the firm's newest medical malpractice litigation. The litigation, led by Ron Motley, involves the prosecution of possibly thousands of emerging cases involving body snatching and recipients of potentially diseased human tissue. Dean was named a Member of Motley Rice LLC in 2006.

Prior to joining Motley Rice, Dean was a partner with the Law Offices of J. Edward Bell III, LLC in Georgetown, South Carolina. Before moving to South Carolina in 2001, he was a member of the William S. Stone, P.C. law firm in Blakely, Georgia, and began his career as an associate with The Bennett Law Firm of Valdosta, Georgia. Dean also served as a County Commissioner on the Early County Georgia Board of Commissioners.

Dean earned an Associates Degree in Criminal Justice and a Bachelor Degree in Political Science from Valdosta State University. He received a J.D. degree in 1991 from the Cumberland School of Law at Samford University, where he was selected to serve on one the school's nationally published law reviews, the American Journal of Trial Advocacy. Dean co-authored an article titled "Dangerous Doors and Loose Latches," appearing in the November 2004 issue of Trial Magazine of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. He is licensed to practice in Georgia and South Carolina.

MICHAEL ELSNER

In his role with groundbreaking anti-terrorism litigation with Motley Rice LLC, Mike Elsner leads the investigatory team that is currently scouring the globe gathering liability evidence for 9/11 families' civil action against al Qaeda's financiers and 9/11 aviation litigation. His creativity and aggressive approach to gathering evidence and pursuing leads are qualities that have enabled him to effectively bring about social change through litigation. His use of the U.S. civil justice system to better protect Americans from the threat of terrorism is an approach that has been invaluable to the more than 6,500 9/11 families and survivors Motley Rice represents.

As The New York Times Magazine noted, such an endeavor is "a worldwide intelligence-gathering operation that makes the discovery process, ordinarily marked by subpoenas and dry depositions, read like a Tom Clancy novel." To date, Elsner and the 9/11 and Anti-Terrorism practice group have acquired more than one million pages of documents in 13 languages about the activities of al Qaeda and the role that its alleged financiers played in providing material support for terrorism.

After graduating from John Carroll University and receiving a law degree from the University of Memphis in 1997, Elsner began work for the Manville Personal Injury Trust. He partnered with Ron Motley and other lawyers on litigation against Big Tobacco. In 2001, Elsner joined the firm of Weitz & Luxenberg, where he worked on asbestos and toxic tort litigation. Through these positions, Elsner gained experience in complex civil litigation in the areas of toxic tort, aviation, security, personal injury, bankruptcy, medical malpractice and whistleblower protections. He officially teamed with Motley Rice lawyers to work on the 9/11 litigation in 2002 and, in 2006, he became a Motley Rice Member.

Elsner has appeared on CNN, ABC, NBC, Fox, MSNBC, National Public Radio, the BBC and the Canadian Broadcasting Company to discuss terrorism litigation and he frequently lectures on the subject. Elsner is licensed to practice in New York, South Carolina and Virginia.

JAMES EVANGELISTA

Jim Evangelista joined Motley Rice LLC as a Member in 2006. He primarily works with the firm's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. Evangelista has been involved in multiple high profile representations including the StarLink™ genetically modified corn litigation, the Insurance Sales Practices Litigation, the Independent Counsel's investigation of the "Iraqgate" scandal, and the Independent Administrator's oversight of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Additionally, Evangelista has prosecuted a number of actions on behalf of a variety of individual plaintiffs in high value commercial litigation, as well as class action securities fraud litigation including a settlement recovery for investors in In re: Providian Financial Corp. Securities Litigation, Master File No. C 01-3952 CRB (N.D.Cal.). Evangelista also has extensive experience in electronic discovery issues.

Prior to joining Motley Rice, Evangelista was a partner at Chitwood Harley Harnes, LLP, where he focused on securities fraud class action litigation. Before joining Chitwood, Evangelista was associated with Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, focusing on consumer and mass tort class action and complex commercial and insurance litigation, including consolidated multi-district litigation in state and federal courts. Evangelista also was associated with LeBoeuf, Lamb, Greene & MacRae LLP, where he worked on internal corporate investigations and general commercial litigation matters.

Evangelista's publications include: Polishing the Gold Standard on the E-Discovery Cost-Shifting Analysis: Zubulake v. UBS Warburg LLC et al., 9 J. Tech. L. & Pol'y 1 (2004); Note, Toward a More Competitive Common Market: European Economic Community Council Regulation No. 4064/89, On the Control of Corporate Mergers Within the European Community, 22 Rutgers L.J. 457 (1991); and Comment, Cogdell v. Hospital Center At Orange, 22 Rutgers L.J. 255 (1990) (addressing New Jersey's entire controversy doctrine).

Evangelista graduated from Rutgers University in 1988 with a dual degree in Economics and Political Science. In 1991, he received a J.D. degree from the Rutgers School of Law, where he was an editor of the Rutgers Law Review. Evangelista is a member of the American Association for Justice and the American Bar Association. He is admitted to practice before the United States Courts of Appeal for the Eighth and Eleventh Circuits, the United States District Courts for the Northern District of Georgia, Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, and District of New Jersey, as well as the State Bars of Georgia, New York, New Jersey, Colorado and the District of Columbia.

FIDELMA FITZPATRICK

Fidelma Fitzpatrick is helping to break new legal ground by holding the lead pigment industry accountable for the childhood lead poisoning crisis on behalf of the state of Rhode Island, various cities and counties and individuals. In February 2006, she was trial counsel in the landmark litigation against the lead pigment industry on behalf of the state of Rhode Island, which ended in an unprecedented verdict for the State.

Fitzpatrick also represents hundreds of lead poisoned children in Wisconsin in legal battles against the lead pigment industry. As a result of her legal work, the Wisconsin State Supreme Court became the first to recognize the legal rights of poisoned children in suing the lead pigment manufacturers. She is also working intensively on similar litigation filed by the City of New York, the City and County of San Francisco and several New Jersey municipalities. In 2005, she served as co-counsel in a case resulting in a New Jersey Appellate Court ruling allowing 26 cities and counties to prosecute claims against the lead pigment industry.

Fitzpatrick graduated from Canisius College and received a law degree from the American University in 1994. In 1997, she joined Motley Rice lawyers in the Providence, R.I. office, working first on the Massachusetts, New York and Rhode Island lawsuits against Big Tobacco. Since 1999, she has focused on lead paint and other environmental litigation. Fitzpatrick became a Motley Rice LLC Member in 2006. She is licensed to practice in Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island and Washington, D.C. Fitzpatrick was named Lawyer of the Year for 2006 by Rhode Island Lawyer's Weekly.

JODI FLOWERS

Jodi Flowers is a Motley Rice LLC Member committed to the notion that trial lawyers can positively effectuate public justice and social change. With a reputation for developing, researching and managing complex litigation and class actions, Flowers was the first associate hired for Ron Motley's team against Big Tobacco. She also prepared the case on child targeting by the tobacco industry that led to the restrictions on cartoon ads and the retiring of Joe Camel and developed expert and whistleblower testimony, synthesizing millions of pages of documents and preparing the tobacco cases for trial.

Flowers is currently the practice group leader for Motley Rice's 9/11 practice group, representing more than 6,500 family members and survivors in a pioneering civil action against al Qaeda's funders designed to bankrupt terrorism. She also donates pro bono work on a wide variety of cases and heads Motley Rice's charitable contribution committee.

Flowers earned a Bachelor of Arts degree magna cum laude from the College of Charleston in 1989 and, on a Carolina Legal scholarship, received a J.D. from the University of South Carolina School of Law and was admitted to the South Carolina Bar in 1993. She joined Motley Rice lawyers upon graduation and is now a Motley Rice LLC Member.

STUART GUBER

Stuart Guber joined Motley Rice LLC in 2006 as a Member, working primarily with the firm's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. He has more than a decade of experience in prosecuting class action litigation against Fortune 500 companies, Big Five accounting firms, and Wall Street's largest investment banking firms for violations of the federal securities laws and other corporate misconduct. He also has experience in prosecuting and defending securities arbitrations conducted before regulatory agencies, including the NASD, New York Stock Exchange and Philadelphia Stock Exchange.

Guber has had day-to-day responsibility for leading multiple class action securities cases on behalf of defrauded investors including cases involving the following companies: Provid-ian Financial, Campbell Soup, MicroWarehouse, Rite Aid, Boston Chicken, ValuJet and Policy Management. Before joining Motley Rice, he was a partner with both Chitwood Harley Harnes, LLP in Atlanta, Georgia and Berger & Montague PC in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Guber earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration with a major in Accounting from Temple University in 1986 and a J.D. from Temple University School of Law in 1990. In 1995, Guber served as one of the trial counsel in Robbins v. Koger Properties, Inc., in which a Federal jury found Deloitte & Touche liable for securities violations after a month long trial and rendered an $81 million verdict. Guber is admitted to practice in the states of Georgia and Pennsylvania, the United States District Courts for the Northern District of Georgia, Eastern District of Pennsylvania, District of Colorado and Eastern District of Michigan, and the United States Courts of Appeals for the First, Third, Eighth, Tenth and Eleventh Circuits.

JOHN HERRICK

John Herrick was persuaded to work with Ron Motley, Joe Rice and many other current colleagues some 16 years ago, encouraged and motivated by their high standards. He now approaches his work with the same ambition as a leader of the asbestos team at Motley Rice LLC.

Herrick has worked for clients across the country in Alabama, Illinois, Maryland, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin and others. He currently serves on the Claimants Committee of the C.E. Thurston Inc. Bankruptcy.

Herrick received a Bachelor of Arts in 1983 and graduated with a J.D. in 1988 from the University of South Carolina. The combination of his innate affection for arguing and his desire to lend a voice to people who might otherwise not be heard drew him to the law and, more specifically, to the plaintiffs' bar. He became a Motley Rice Member in 2003.

ANNE KEARSE

With a background in consumer affairs and a record in asbestos litigation, Anne Kearse approaches every case with two objectives in mind: to be passionate about the clients she represents and to provide top-notch legal counsel. She has represented victims of asbestos exposure in numerous jurisdictions within both individual and mass tort settings. In addition to her asbestos-related work, Kearse represents individuals and families suffering from injuries resulting from defective products and catastrophic accidents.

Beginning her career as a trial paralegal and investigator for Motley Rice lawyers in 1984, she quickly learned all the ins and outs of discovery while working on asbestos cases for individual plaintiffs and school districts. Kearse was later encouraged to obtain a law degree so that she could take her commitment and knowledge about plaintiffs' needs and the culpability of defendants to a new level.

In 1998, Kearse graduated cum laude from the University of South Carolina School of Law and was admitted to the South Carolina Bar. She became a Member of Motley Rice LLC in 2003 and now leads the asbestos liability team and Catastrophic Injury practice group. She has a focus on toxic torts, mass tort litigation, premise liability and general civil litigation. Kearse has written and been published on major legal issues, including forum non conveniens and defective products abroad, corporate conduct, medico legal aspects of asbestos litigation and mass tort litigation.

ROBERT McCONNELL

Bob McConnell joined Motley Rice as a Member in 2003 and has most recently devoted his attention to childhood lead poisoning cases, representing both injured children in lawsuits against negligent property owners and government agencies in public nuisance lawsuits against the lead pigment industry. He has presented to the Rhode Island Bar Association, the Northeast Conference of Attorneys General and various community groups throughout Rhode Island on lead poisoning litigation.

McConnell began his career representing individual asbestos victims and assisting in large consolidated asbestos trials in Maryland, Mississippi and West Virginia.

After graduating from Brown University in 1979 and teaching for several years, McConnell earned his law degree in 1987 from Suffolk University. McConnell then clerked for one year for Rhode Island Supreme Court Justice Donald F. Shea before joining Motley Rice. He is licensed to practice in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Hoping to better the state of Rhode Island, McConnell serves on the board of Help Lead Safe Center, whose purpose is to prevent childhood lead poisoning and provide services for children already affected.

JOHN McCONNELL, JR.

Throughout his career, attorney Jack McConnell has fought for justice, taking on Big Tobacco, the asbestos industry, and now, the manufacturers of lead paint, on behalf of many individuals, groups of people, municipalities, counties and states.

McConnell's exceptional legal and trial achievements have earned him a host of honors. In 2006, Lawyers USA recognized McConnell as a Lawyer of the Year, citing the Rhode Island lead case. He is the recipient of the National Association of Attorneys General's President's Award, the Childhood Lead Action Project's Above and Beyond the Call of Duty Award, the Rhode Island Bar Association's Dorothy Lohman Award, CWRU's Martin Luther King, Jr. Award and the Rhode Island ARC's Silver Bullet Award. He is an Advocate in The National College of Advocacy.

A 1980 Brown University graduate, McConnell earned his law degree from Case Western Reserve University School of Law in 1983. After clerking for the R.I. Supreme Court, he practiced law at the firm of Mandell, Goodman, Famiglietti & Schwartz for two years before beginning work with Motley Rice lawyers in 1986. He became a Motley Rice LLC Member in 2003, serves as one of the six members of the firm's executive committee and manages the firm's Rhode Island office. McConnell is active in his community as well as the state and national Democratic Party. He is licensed to practice in Massachusetts, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina and Washington, D.C.

DONALD MIGLIORI

Don Migliori's journey to the highest levels of the plaintiffs' bar — winning multi-million dollar asbestos verdicts, litigating on behalf of the 9/11 families and victims of aviation disasters and helping the States Attorneys General stop Big Tobacco — took an unconventional route.

After graduating from Brown University, he earned a master's degree in early American legal history from Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Public Citizenry and worked as a freelance photographer and an English teacher in Portugal. His path eventually led to Syracuse's College of Law, then to the law firm of Gunning LaFazia & Gnys. In 1997, he began his work with Motley Rice lawyers.

In 2003, Migliori became a Member of Motley Rice LLC. He heads the firm's aviation team along with Mary Schiavo. He also tries occupational health, environmental, medical malpractice and other types of cases before juries. Migliori has made a name for himself as a trial lawyer whose calm, deliberative style enables him to connect with juries and successfully negotiate with adversaries even under the most contentious of circumstances. He is licensed to practice in Massachusetts, Minnesota and Rhode Island. He has also appeared on Court TV, Fox News, and The CBS Early Show and is an adjunct professor at Roger William School of Law, teaching mass torts.

WILLIAM NARWOLD

A longtime national leader in the movement for corporate accountability and responsibility, Bill Narwold continues that pursuit at Motley Rice LLC, where he directs the Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. Narwold is building further on the firm's leading role in many of the largest consumer fraud, defective products, whistleblower, antitrust and securities litigation matters throughout the United States.

The versatile and accomplished litigator joined Motley Rice LLC as a senior Member in January 2004 after spending 25 years at Cummings & Lockwood in Hartford, Connecticut, including a decade as managing partner. He was drawn to the firm by its energy, excitement and creativity and the opportunity to work on litigation that affects people's lives, policy and social change. Narwold plays an active management role as a member of Motley Rice's executive committee, and he heads the firm's appellate practice group. In addition to leading the firm's Securities and Consumer Fraud litigation matters, Narwold is also a skilled problem-solver, frequently acting as an arbitrator and mediator, both through the American Arbitration Association and privately.

A 1974 graduate of Colby College, Narwold earned a law degree cum laude from the University of Connecticut School of Law in 1979, where he was Managing Editor of the Connecticut Law Review. From 1979 to 1981, he served as a law clerk for the Honorable Warren W. Eginton, U.S. District Judge, District of Connecticut. He is licensed to practice in Connecticut. Narwold serves on the board of directors of numerous bar associations and non-profit organizations, including the Connecticut Bar Foundation, the Greater Hartford Legal Assistance Foundation, the University of Connecticut Law School Foundation and Lawyers for Children America.

ANN RITTER

Possessing over two decades of courtroom experience in complex class action litigation involving products liability, toxic tort, shareholders' rights and consumer protection litigation, Ann Ritter, is a skilled and successful trial lawyer who, throughout her accomplished career, has worked tirelessly to confront corporate wrongdoers and hold them accountable for negligence and wrongdoing.

A straight shooter, Ritter is an unyielding advocate for her clients, having combined her inherent ability to lead complex cases with a take-charge attitude to help trial teams and courts across the country. Her strong instinct for finding corporate smoking gun evidence puts her on the front lines of hard-fought litigation.

Ritter is a founding attorney of Motley Rice LLC and serves on the Firm's Executive Committee. Additionally she serves in a managing role in Motley Rice's occupational disease, transportation and securities litigation groups.

Currently she serves as Lead Counsel in In re Dell Inc., Sec. Litig., (United States District Court for the Western District of Texas); Co-Lead Counsel in In re Lear Corp. Shareholders Litig., (Del. Ch.), and has played a key role in the National Home freeze out case, (Del. Ch).

Ritter earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Florida State University. During and after college, Ritter worked in the commercial banking area. She also worked in the banking regulatory field as a bank examiner with the State of Florida Office of the Comptroller. She then pursued a law degree from the University of Tennessee. Ritter is co-author of "Asbestos in Schools," published by the National School Boards Association. She serves on the Executive Advisory Council of the International Pleural Mesothelioma Program at Brigham and Women's Hospital at Harvard Medical School, the Advisory Committee for the Tobacco Deposition and Trial Testimony Archives (DATTA) Project.

MARY SCHIAVO

Throughout her career in law and public service, Mary Schiavo has held corporations, institutions and the government fully accountable for their obligation to protect the public welfare. She continues that mission at Motley Rice LLC as a member, leader of the aviation team and as a member of the firm's complex litigation team.

Schiavo has held numerous government appointments with the U.S. government. She is a former Assistant U.S. Attorney and served as an assistant to the U.S. Attorney General. As a prosecutor on the Organized Crime and Racketeering Strike Force, she prosecuted high profile criminal cases involving securities, mail and wire fraud. Appointed to Assistant U.S. Secretary of Labor, she investigated union, election and financial irregularities. From 1990 to 1996, Schiavo served as the Inspector General for the U.S. Department of Transportation. Under her direction, Schiavo and her staff secured more than 1,000 criminal convictions and uncovered billions of dollars of fraud, waste and abuse of taxpayers' money at the U.S.D.O.T. Additionally, Schiavo instructed in trial tactics and prosecution of white collar investigations at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Academy, the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy and the Attorney General's Advocacy Institute.

Since leaving the Transportation Department, Schiavo has worked on complex litigation matters to obtain accountability from corporations and wrongdoers for breach of fiduciary duty. She has represented passenger and crew families in complex litigation involving major U.S. aviation disasters as well as private planes. At Motley Rice, she continues to represent clients in major aviation-related litigation, including family members of the passengers and crew aboard the four planes hijacked on September 11, 2001.

Experienced in corporate regulation, Schiavo worked for 10 years on corporate audit committee issues, including helping direct a NYSE corporation through the implementation of Sarbanes-Oxley compliance. Additionally, Schiavo served for 10 years on the Board of Directors of a NYSE-listed corporation and served on the Board of Directors for a Canadian-based corporation.

Schiavo is a cum laude graduate of Harvard University and earned a master's degree in public administration from The Ohio State University, where she was a University Fellow. Schiavo earned a J.D. from New York University and was a Root-Tilden Law Scholar. She is licensed to practice in Maryland, Missouri, Washington, D.C. and before the U.S. Supreme Court. She has also made appearances on behalf of clients in many other U.S. states and several foreign countries.

Recognized by television audiences worldwide, Schiavo has served as a legal consultant for NBC and ABC news and frequently appears on Fox, CNN, CBS, History and Discovery Channels and the BBC. She is a licensed pilot and has taught aviation and public administration as a professor at The Ohio State University.

JEFFREY THOMPSON

With more than a decade of courtroom experience in occupational health, commercial and consumer fraud, property, bankruptcy, toxic tort and environmental law, and eight years of previous work in the oil industry, Jeff Thompson brings a versatile background, a unique perspective, meticulous preparation and exceptional trial skill to Motley Rice LLC.

Currently, Thompson works on asbestos, anti-terrorism, welding rod, railroad/Federal Employers' Liability Act and drug cases. Thompson is involved in every aspect of the litigation that he manages.

A native of Des Moines, Iowa, he graduated from Northeast Missouri State University in 1982 and went to work in the oil field services industry in sales, operations and management. He then attended the University of Houston Law Center, where he was editor-in-chief of the Law Review and graduated magna cum laude. He then served as law clerk to the Honorable Carolyn Dineen King of U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit before joining the Houston law firm of Susman Godfrey. Thompson joined the Williams Bailey Law Firm in Houston, Texas in 1995 and became a partner in 1997. He became a Member of Motley Rice LLC in June 2003. He is licensed to practice in Texas.

FRED THOMPSON

With over 25 years of trial experience in commercial, personal injury and toxic tort law, Fred Thompson brings a highly credible reputation to Motley Rice LLC. Armed with a sharp ability to organize facts into legal theories and arguments, Thompson approaches each case individually and always keeps clients' well-being and primary interests in mind.

Thompson has represented a cross-section of clients in securities litigation, including customers of public brokerage houses, classes of bondholders in defaulted bond issues and purchasers of securities — including limited partnership units, stocks and other forms of securities against the issuing entities, advisers, accountants, brokers, bankers, underwriters, syndicators and other associated professionals in federal, state and bankruptcy forums, as well as in alternative dispute such as arbitration. Thompson currently leads Motley Rice's medical practice group, managing all cases related to defective medical devices, medical malpractice, nursing home abuse and harmful pharmaceutical drugs. He is a frequent speaker on medical litigation topics, and was recently appointed co-chairman of the American Association for Justice Kugel Mesh Litigation Group.

After earning a Bachelor of Arts degree cum laude from Yale University in 1973, Thompson served his country in the U.S. Navy. He then attended Duke University School of Law, where he served on the editorial board of the Duke Law Review, was awarded the Order of the Coif and earned his J.D. with distinction in 1979. Thompson has tried cases in every forum in South Carolina, from the magistrate's court to the court of appeals. He is licensed to practice in South Carolina.

DAVID WORLEY

In 1980, David Worley graduated cum laude from Harvard University. After two years as a Congressional aide, he attended the University of Virginia School of Law, where he won the Johnson & Swanson Award for excellence in written advocacy and was a member of the National Moot Court Team. He earned a J.D. from the University of Virginia in 1985.

Worley's experience includes nearly a decade representing trustees of union pension funds, international and local unions, and groups of individuals in a variety of complex trial and appellate litigation and arbitrations. His securities experience includes leading litigation teams in In re: Cryolife Sec. Litig. and In re: AFC Enterprises Sec. Litig. Worley is admitted to practice before all Georgia state trial and appellate courts, the United States District Courts for the Northern and Middle Districts of Georgia and the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

As a Member of Motley Rice LLC, Worley works primarily with the firm's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group working on corporate securities and other complex litigation to further the firm's leading role in many of the largest consumer fraud, defective products, whistleblower, and antitrust litigation matters throughout the United States. Worley has served as Chair of the Labor and Employment Law Sections of both the State Bar of Georgia and the Atlanta Bar Association, and as Co-Chair of the Federal Legislative Developments Committee of the American Bar Association's Committee on Labor and Employment Law. He was a contributing editor to The Fair Labor Standards Act (BNA, 2000) and Discipline and Discharge in Arbitration (BNA, 1998) and has lectured on litigation and arbitration topics at numerous continuing legal education seminars. For many years he was a member of the AFL-CIO Lawyers Coordinating Committee.

From 1998 to 2001, Worley served as Chairman of the Democratic Party of Georgia. He is a former Democratic nominee for the United States Congress, has been a Member of the Democratic National Committee and a delegate to four Democratic National Conventions. He has also served as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton County Library System and the Clayton County Aging Program. He is currently a member of the Georgia State Election Board.

ADDITIONAL SECURITIES AND CONSUMER FRAUD LITIGATORS

WILLIAM APPLEGATE

Originally a small business owner, William Applegate chose to bring his business management background to the firm in 2003. He speaks Spanish fluently and has an assertive and thorough approach to conducting discovery, taking depositions, arguing motions and negotiating settlements.

In his legal career, Applegate has represented individuals and small businesses in civil disputes throughout the country in both state and federal courts. He currently focuses his efforts on securities and consumer fraud class actions and individual commercial torts, including securities fraud litigation and deal cases involving Dell, Witness Systems, Guitar Center, MBNA and Washington Mutual. Additionally, Applegate possesses extensive knowledge in admiralty law, the Jones Act and environmental pollution law. He is experienced in cases involving the Federal Employer's Liability Act (FELA), assisting in the management of Motley Rice's 9,000 plaintiffs from across the country who have been injured while working for different railroad companies.

Applegate earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in both English and Spanish from the College of Charleston. He received his law degree from the University of South Carolina and was admitted to the South Carolina Bar in 2002.

TED HUGE

Ted Huge has a financial management background and litigation experience fighting corporate fraud in consumer and commercial litigation. As one of the firm's primary RICO litigators, Huge has worked on several civil RICO cases including the tobacco cost recovery cases of the 1990s, a consumer credit fraud class action and two large cases in Puerto Rico, one involving bribery and extortion in the processing of Medicare reimbursement, the other representing a certified class of car buyers alleging fraud and money laundering in the sale of automobiles. Huge has also represented various clients in corporate and transactional matters and has written several appellate briefs.

Huge earned a Bachelor of Arts from Duke University in 1989 and a law degree from Georgetown University in 1993. Before joining Motley Rice lawyers, Huge worked as assistant general counsel and financial analyst for an international start-up company working on securities, franchise and corporate matters and the preparation of financial statements and analysis. He is licensed to practice in South Carolina, Virginia, the U.S. Virgin Islands and the District of Columbia.

JAMES HUGHES, PH.D.

Jim Hughes began his career as a professor, teaching philosophy at the University of Kentucky, Ohio State University, Vassar College and the University of South Carolina. As one who enjoyed the trials of teaching, Hughes decided that joining the legal profession might inspire and further challenge him. As an attorney with Motley Rice LLC, Hughes encounters motivating challenges daily and is committed to presenting the strongest legal arguments possible against defendants in court to bring cases to trial or resolution. He joined Motley Rice attorneys in 1993 and was named Senior Counsel in 2007.

Hughes primarily focuses on Motley Rice's securities and consumer fraud litigation efforts, writing pleadings and filings prior to lead plaintiff appointment, as well as moving forward during the litigation stage.

A Minnesota native, Hughes earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Minnesota followed by a Master of Arts and Ph.D. in philosophy from the University of Illinois at Chicago. He was admitted to the South Carolina Bar in 1993. He has spoken at several national conferences on silica topics, such as "Emerging Issues in Silica Litigation," "The Current State of Silica Litigation," "Silica Litigation: The Killing Dust" and "Is Silica the Next Asbestos? The Plaintiff's Perspective." Hughes's law review article, "Informing South Carolina Capital Juries About Parole," was cited in 2000 by Justice John Paul Stevens of the United States Supreme Court in his dissenting opinion in Ramdass v. Angelone.

BADGE HUMPHRIES

Badge Humphries has experienced complex litigation in courtroom environments — first, as law clerk to U.S. District Court Judge Thad Heartfield and, then, as an associate working with the Motley Rice Occupational Disease and Toxic Tort practice group on asbestos litigation. In 2004, Humphries began devoting a large amount of time to the Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. His responsibilities have included writing amicus curiae briefs on behalf of foreign-investor groups to the U.S. Supreme Court and appellants' briefs to the S.C. Supreme Court in consumer cases as well as conducting discovery and drafting various motions and responses in cases pending in various state and federal jurisdictions.

Humphries has diverse experience in the public, private and non-profit sectors. Humphries graduated summa cum laude from Tulane University in 1996 with a B.A. in Latin American Studies. After college, Humphries worked for a non-profit human-rights organization in Austin, Texas before enrolling at The University of Texas School of Law, where he served as a member of the Texas Law Review and earned a J.D. with honors in May 2001. He was admitted to the Texas Bar in 2001 and to the South Carolina Bar in 2004. He is also a member of the bars of two U.S. District Courts — the South Carolina District and Eastern District of Texas.

FREDERICK JEKEL

Fritz Jekel has been involved in trials related to asbestos, groundwater contamination, RICO, personal injury and product liability trials throughout his career. In recent years, Jekel has handled and tried lead poisoning personal injury cases in Illinois, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio and South Carolina.

Jekel also handles toxic mold exposure cases, effectively dealing with the unique challenges of causation and liability. Most recently, he has helped represent students at Stratford High School in a civil rights class action lawsuit in which the students allege that their constitutional rights were violated when police handcuffed and held them at gunpoint during a drug raid.

In 1993, after earning a Bachelor of Arts degree, M.P.A. and J.D. from the University of South Carolina, Jekel was admitted to the South Carolina Bar and became associated with Motley Rice lawyers.

GREGG LEVIN

With nearly 20 years of legal experience, attorney Gregg Levin is an accomplished litigator in the area of corporate governance, misconduct and securities fraud. Levin joined Motley Rice in 2007, working primarily with the Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group.

Prior to joining Motley Rice, Levin was an associate at Grant & Eisenhofer in Wilmington, Delaware, where he focused on corporate litigation and shareholders' rights. He represented institutional investors in the securities fraud class actions and shareholder derivative actions in federal and state courts across the country, including the WorldCom, Telxon and Global Crossing cases. Levin is the author of significant portions of the treatise Shareholder Activism Handbook (Aspen Publishers; November 2005). In addition, he has written and published multiple articles addressing securities fraud litigation.

Levin is also the former Vice President and Corporate Counsel for a Delaware Valley based retail corporation, where he directed the corporation's legal affairs, led internal investigations and maintained corporate compliance in all internal and external policies, procedures and contracts.

Levin earned a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from the University of Rochester in 1984 and a J.D. from Vanderbilt University School of law in 1987. He is licensed to practice in California and the District of Columbia.

INGRID MOLL

After working for two large defense firms, Ingrid Moll made a significant career move in 2004 when she chose to join Motley Rice LLC, attracted by its energy, creativity and role in tobacco and asbestos litigation.

Moll's areas of experience include unfair competition and trade practices and intellectual property, tax and appellate practice. She has partaken in the preparation, briefing and argument for dozens of appeals in various state and federal courts. Moll works primarily in Motley Rice's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group.

After graduating from Wheaton College with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and French, Moll earned a J.D. with honors from the University of Connecticut School of Law, where she was Editor-in-Chief of the Connecticut Law Review. Following her graduation from law school, Moll served as a law clerk to the Honorable David M. Borden, Connecticut Supreme Court.

Moll's experience includes serving on the litigation team of cases in unfair trade practices, intellectual property, constitutional law, tax and other areas in state and federal courts in Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Minnesota and New York and playing an active role in appeals before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First and Second Circuit and the state courts of Connecticut, Georgia and Maryland. Moll has also taught moot court class at the University of Connecticut School of Law as an adjunct professor.

VINCENT PARRETT

Vince Parrett earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree, cum laude, in Economics from Yale College, where he authored dual senior theses: "A Tract on the International Currency Swap Market" and "A History of the Securities & Exchange Commission. Sed quis custodiet ipsos Custodes?" He studied European Union Law and Economics in German, at the Goethe Institute in Mannheim, Germany. In 1998 Parrett graduated from New York University School of Law.

He began his legal career in Boston, Massachusetts, in the area of securities, representing clients involved in federal securities litigation and SEC investigations. He was involved in research, document analysis, drafting briefs and interviews with key witnesses involved in securities fraud litigation. Parrett has also served as a Naval Officer in the United States Navy Judge Advocate General's Corps (JAG).

From 2003 through the present, Parrett has represented victims of the September 11th attacks first with a New York firm and thereafter with Motley Rice. He has represented clients in this multidistrict litigation against financial sponsors of al Qaeda, and against the airlines and security companies who allegedly failed to implement basic security measures, enabling the terrorists to launch the attacks.

Since joining Motley Rice, he has also participated in corporate class action litigation representing the direct financial interests of shareholders against under-priced or coercive transactions, and shareholders asserting claims against management and directors for violating their fiduciary duties in connection with corporate transactions, such as 'going-private' deals. He also engages in federal class action securities fraud litigation, representing investors injured because of wrongful conduct, including the dissemination of fraudulent statements to the investing public.

Parrett has co-authored several articles and presentations. He is admitted to practice law in New York, California and Massachusetts, as well as several federal courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court, the First Circuit Court of Appeals, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals and the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

MARTHA RHODES

With a background in corporate, business and insurance litigation, attorney Martha Rhodes has represented companies both small and large in civil litigation. She has taken more than 200 depositions relating to construction litigation and insurance defense and has taken several cases to trial.

Prior to joining Motley Rice, Rhodes was an associate at Buist Moore Smythe McGee P.A. in Charleston, South Carolina. She completed a clerkship with Judge Jackson V. Gregory of the Fourteenth Judicial Circuit of South Carolina and served as a Law Clerk for the Neighborhood Legal Assistance Program, Inc., in the Charleston community.

Rhodes joined Motley Rice in 2007 as an associate in the Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. She is a 1997 graduate of the University of the South, where she earned a Bachelor of Arts in English. She earned her J.D.

in 2001 from the University of South Carolina School of Law and served as an Associate Justice of the University of South Carolina Moot Court Bar. She is licensed to practice in South Carolina.

LEE ANNE WALTERS

Lee Walters joined Motley Rice as an associate in 2006. She works primarily with the firm's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. A South Carolina native, Walters earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Clemson University in 1994 and a Master's Degree in Education from the Harvard University Graduate School of Education in 1995 before earning a J.D. degree from the University of South Carolina School of Law.

While earning her law degree, Walters clerked for a plaintiffs' firm specializing primarily in medical malpractice and products liability, as well as for the Children's Law Office. Walters is a member of the Order of the Wig and Robe and the recipient of CALI Awards in property and civil procedure. She is licensed to practice law in South Carolina.

SECURITIES AND CONSUMER FRAUD FORENSIC STAFF

DAVID ABEL

Director of Shareholder Services and Business Analysts
 David Abel is known for his talent in identifying an organization's needs, developing innovative solutions with creative ideas and a passion for technology. He works with monitored clients and practice group attorneys to secure and monitor clients' financial holdings. Abel is responsible for communicating with institutional investors interested in Motley Rice's portfolio monitoring service, monitoring portfolios by correlating investment portfolio with current litigation, and analyzing institutional losses for potential/current actions impacting portfolios. He also oversees all client interaction as it relates to settlement recovery, document preparation and calculating recognizable loss.

Prior to joining Motley Rice in 2006, Abel gained valuable professional experiences as Vice President of Operations for a mid-size tour company, as Editor and General Manager for a political e-journal with over 40,000 subscribers and as Marketing Assistant at a full service marketing and public relations agency.

BRIAN BRADLEY

Brian Bradley serves the Motley Rice team as a Forensic Accountant, with more than 25 years experience in professional services, finance and management. His professional services experience includes consulting and litigation support. His litigation consulting work has included areas such as securities fraud, professional malpractice, business fraud and damage claims. In addition, Bradley has over a decade of valuable experience in accounting, reporting and audit functions with financial institutions. Bradley has participated in several high profile class actions in both state and federal courts across a variety of industries, against Big Four accounting firms and Fortune 500 companies. He is a graduate of the University of Houston, with a B.S. in Business Administration, and a major in accounting.

ADAM FOULKE

Adam Foulke joined Motley Rice LLC in December 2006 as a Business Analyst in the Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. Foulke has over 15 years of business experience including post-SOX experience in corporate governance consulting and market regulation compliance analysis. Foulke was drawn to the securities fraud team at Motley Rice because of his passion for good corporate governance and his belief that in order for the United States capital markets to remain competitive, the market and its participants must act with integrity and individual firms must be accountable for the trust bestowed upon them by the investing public.

Before joining Motley Rice, Foulke served as a Principal in two maritime start-up businesses, a port services and transportation business and a technology venture seeking to market IED detection devices to domestic and international container terminal operators. He also served as a proxy analysis and corporate governance consultant for financial advisory firm, Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS). While working as an analyst at ISS, several of Foulke's articles on corporate governance issues were published in the firm's weekly publication circulated to pension fund investment advisors, money managers and other equities analysts.

STEFFEN MOERTIZ

As Director of European Investors Relations, Steffen works closely with Motley Rice's Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group to identify, research and communicate the status of securities fraud litigation to European clients. He is responsible for managing the Portfolio Monitoring Service offered by Motley Rice and Sturman LLC with European clients, monitoring their investment portfolios to determine losses and potential recoveries. Additionally, Moeritz manages the preparation and filing of settlement claims.

With knowledge in European law, regulatory matters, commercial law and debt recovery, Moeritz is able to assist European clients in understanding the relationship between the law and furthering business interests.

Moeritz earned a law degree from Martin Luther University in Germany with an emphasis in economics. After spending several years as a legal consultant and business manager in Germany, Moeritz began working with American securities law and European investors as the Foreign Outreach Manager at a New York-based securities firm. He is fluent in German and English. He joined Motley Rice in 2006.

SAM WANKEL

Sam serves as a Motley Rice Business Analyst with more than 17 years of experience in complex securities litigation support and consulting. He provides litigation support relating to the economic issues that arise in complex securities fraud litigation. His litigation consulting work includes calculating damages in actions brought under federal and state securities laws. In addition, he provides financial and economic analysis of publicly traded securities, financial statements, historical price performance and "peer group" comparisons as well as research on various individual company and/or industry specific issues relating to publicly traded securities.

From 1994 through 1995, he researched and prepared statistical information presented to the United States Congress and the Senate Banking and Finance Committee with respect to public offerings, stock trading and securities class actions and the Private Securities Litigation and Reform Act (PSLRA). Sam earned a Bachelor of Arts from Colorado State University and has taken various post graduate courses in finance, accounting, statistics, and investment analysis and portfolio management.

REBECCA WHITLEY

Rebecca Whitley joined Motley Rice LLC in November 2006 as a Business Analyst in the Securities and Consumer Fraud practice group. Prior to joining the firm, Whitley was a Senior Financial Analyst with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company where she gained financial experience in direct response marketing, home office claims and international finance. Whitley brings extensive experience to Motley Rice LLC in the area of loss calculations.

Whitley earned a Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics with honors from Wheaton College and a Masters of Business Administration degree from Bryant University in 2005.
